Jaycees Present Petitions To State Legislators

PROJECT INVOLVEMENT — Circleville Jaycees began involving state officials in their "Project Involvement" Monday when they took petitions with 9,000 signatures gathered in Pickaway County. The petitions stated the Jaycees are in full support of the efforts of the government and National Guard to restore order to Ohio college campuses. Studying the petition are, seated from the left: State Representative Myrl Shoemaker and State Senator Harry Armstrong, standing, Ernest Lindsey, Bill Ballou, Chief Assistant to the Governor John McElroy, Bruce Bell and Dr. Robert Liggett.

A delegation of Circleville Jaycees Monday presented signature petitions signed by 9,000 people in Pickaway County to state officials.

Accepting the petitions were Myrl Shoemaker, Pickaway-Ross state representative; Harry Armstrong, state senator of the 17th senatorial district; and John McElroy, chief assistant to the governor.

Representing the local club were Ernest Lindsey, Bill Ballou, Bruce Bell and Dr. Robert Liggett.

The Jaycees explained their Project Involvement to the state officials, pointing out that the project in Circleville began with a public meeting where a capacity crowd expressed their views.

BASICALLY, the project is designed to get people to express their views to elected

FBI Agents Raid Cuban Exile Office

MIAMI (AP) — FBI agents have raided the headquarters of a militantly anti-Castro group—13 days after a high-level U.S. government decision that exile raids on Cuba must stop.

Six FBI agents armed with search warrants in Spanish and English staged the raid Monday on the offices of the group, called Alpha 66 in the Little Havana section of Miami.

The FBI would not comment on the action.

Diego Medina, press officer for Alpha 66 said the agents apparently were looking for guns and ammunition but found none. Medina said they seized some water canteens, military-type belts and some papers.

Two upper echelon federal officials were in Miami May 15 to pass word among exile groups that the U.S. government will henceforth strictly enforce its neutrality laws.

Federal law forbids use of United States territory to launch military expeditions against a foreign country.

"We have violated no law. Our expeditions set out from soil outside the United States," Medina said.

Mead Corp. Offers Land To Chillicothe

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Mead Corp. Monday night gave the city's industrial development a boost by offering to make available 119 acres of land for new industry.

Warren E. Henricks, vice president of the papermaking firm, offered the tract south east of Chillicothe to the city for use by its community improvement corporation. When a sale to an industry has been arranged, Mead will transfer the particular parcel to the city at no cost, Henricks told councilmen.

Guard Starts Withdrawal From OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly half of the soldiers stationed at Ohio State University were withdrawn this morning, and National Guard officials said the rest will leave soon if the troubled campus remains quiet.

A curfew continued during the night on the campus, which has been quiet since last Thursday's student disturbance, but one imposed on sections of the city adjacent to the university was lifted.

Some 1,700 troops began moving out of the area at 7:30 a.m. Lt. Col. J.E.P. McCann said current plans call for another 1,900 to be withdrawn at noon Wednesday, with the remaining 360 Guardsmen to be pulled out sometime Thursday.

The decision to reduce the Guard force was made after Ohio State trustees approved three recommendations which meet some of the demands of militant students and about 7,000 persons gathered peacefully on the campus oval to hear a report on the trustees' actions.

Trustees agreed to create an Office of Minority Affairs to recruit more black students and faculty, replace the discipline committee with a hearing officer and permit students to accept a pass-fair grade for the spring quarter.

Militant student leaders speaking at the rally expressed dissatisfaction with the new discipline procedure.

"The new rule is the same old thing under a different name," declared Jerry A. Roberts of the Afro-Am organization, one of three groups making up the Strike Coalition which originally submitted 28 demands to the administration.

Student body president Stephen Kling said he was unhappy with the discipline rule, but urged the crowd to pursue its goals through peaceful means.

NATO Meet Eyes Soviet Naval Threat

ROME (AP) — Growing Soviet strength in the Mediterranean and potential discord within their alliance over Greece's military dictatorship worried the 15 foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as they opened their annual spring meeting in Rome today.

"There is no doubt," Italian Premier Mariano Rumor said in a speech of welcome, "that everything which has occurred since the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli conflict has helped the Soviet Union to assert its presence in the Mediterranean."

Rumor and other speakers at the formal opening session avoided direct reference to the disagreement about Greece.

Foreign Minister Paul Harting of Denmark came to Rome with a resolution from his parliament urging him to work to stop arms deliveries to the Greek government, which is widely criticized among the allied nations as being oppressive and undemocratic.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers and his aides were working to avert open criticism of the Athens regime at the meeting, fearing a Greek walkout from the alliance.

GROUND BREAKING — The official groundbreaking of the Pickaway County Airport was held today. Participating in the ceremonies were, from the left, John Stevenson, John Dunlap, Frank Bowling Jr., Robert Johnson, Keith Wagner, all members of the Pickaway County Airport Authority.

Ohio House Approves Bill To Give Schools More Cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House approved 89-3 Monday night a long-stalled bill that will give schools in the state an additional $26.6 million.

The money will come from a $18 million budget surplus in the Department of Education in addition to $8.6 million in other state funds.

The bill also would authorize financially troubled school districts to borrow up to 100 per cent of their following year's tax revenue in order to remain open. Twelve months would be set aside for the repayment of the loan.

A school district currently can borrow only 50 per cent of its anticipated revenues and has only six months to return the advanced money to the state.

House Minority Leader John C. McDonald, one of three Democrats voting against the proposal, said the legislature was not fulfilling its responsibility by doing something about school closings without "having to pay the costs."

The two other dissenters were Reps. Donald J. Pease of Oberlin and Larry J. Smith of Cleveland.

The bill, introduced into the Senate shortly after House passage, is expected to reach the floor for a vote as early as Wednesday.

Earlier the House approved 85-1 a bill establishing a new means of determining overtime payment for state employees.

The measure, if approved by the Senate, will allow state workers to draw one and one-half times their regular pay or $6.60 per hour, whichever ever is less. Employees could also elect to take compensatory time off on an hour-for-hour basis.

The House also approved a bill which would provide a $2,000 death benefit to survivors and dependents of state employees.

The sole victim of the house was a bill sponsored by Rep. George E. Mastics, R-52 Fairview Park. The measure, which failed by a vote of 39-48, sought to establish an Ohio Polygraph Commission to license polygraph examiners in the state.

Israelis Patrol Lebanese Areas To Seek Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli troops again crossed into Lebanon today in a patrolling action against Arab guerrillas who have been attacking Israeli settlements on this tense frontier.

Maj. Gen. Mordechai Gur, the northern area commander of Israeli forces, told newsmen that the patrols were working at his discretion in order to keep the guerrillas away from the border.

As the general talked to newsmen, two patrols were operating in Lebanese territory in the central sector of the 50-mile border. One was patrolling the heights of Mt. Aviram, opposite the settlement of Malkiya. The elevation overlooks several Israeli villages.

Newsmen could see soldiers standing at the top of the hill.

The second patrol was operating near Airoun, opposite the Israeli town of Aviram. It was near there that Arab guerrillas Friday ambushed an Israeli schoolbus and killed 12 persons, most of them children.

Gur said the patrols were small and no tanks were involved. Tanks were parked on the Israeli side of the border, ready to go into action if needed.

Correspondents in the area, however, said they saw four tanks rumble into Lebanon this morning accompanied by two units of between 10 and 15 soldiers.

The Israelis Monday sent four tanks into Lebanon along with about 28 soldiers in the first announced police action since the school bus ambush.

The Lebanese said one of their officers was killed in Monday's fighting at Marwahin, a few hundred yards from the border and 10 miles inland from the Mediterranean. Israeli casualties were not mentioned.

Soldier Faces Slaying Charges

TAY NINH, Vietnam (AP) — Spec 4. James E. Paul, 22, of Alamogordo, N.M., has been charged with murdering two GIs and wounding 18 others on May 16 as they waited for a show to start.

The victims were members of a company that had just returned from fighting in Cambodia, where it suffered more than 50 casualties. They were sitting in an outdoor bleachers at a 25th Division base camp when some men from outside the company sat down. A scuffle broke out over their presence, and the uninjured men left, but a few minutes later a soldier appeared with an M16 rifle and began shooting.

$100,000 Damage In Lebanon Blaze

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Damage was expected to run more than $100,000 today following a fire of undetermined origin that destroyed the ware house of the Sperry-Rand Co.

About 75 firemen from six fire departments fought the blaze through the night. No injuries were reported. The building housed fiber glass products, firemen said.

Wage, Price Controls Urged By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress now has before it wage and price control legislation, another element in the economic debate drawing more and testier comment every day in the capital.

"We are in serious straits," Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., said as he introduced a bill to create a federal board that could freeze wages and prices for six months.

Democratic leaders Carl Albert of the House and Mike Mansfield of the Senate urged in a joint statement that President Nixon "extricate (the nation) from the economic morass that has befallen us" by immediately convening a National Conference on Inflation and Unemployment.

A group of union economists met with Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz to urge selective credit controls or an immediate freeze on profits, wages, prices and salaries.

The White House, meanwhile, said Nixon remained confident the nation's sluggish economy would pick up steam later this year.

And a spokesman added the President was keeping close tabs on the stock market. The Dow Jones industrial average Monday fell 20.51 points to 641.36, its lowest level in seven and one-half years.

Nixon also was criticized by Republican members of Congress.

C. WILLIAM O'Neill, Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, will receive a get-well card from Pickaway County

The chief justice has on several occasions sworn in public officials of Pickaway County. A card was circulated around the Court-house yesterday and signed by most of the office holders and workers.

TAKING the lawyers' circuit of Florida fun spots, Municipal Court Clerk Nikki Houghton has been rewarded with a beautiful tan, sufficient to make all local citizens efforts at sunning look like wasted time. Her two-week stay in the southern vacationland was timed just right to avoid the local lawyers' pilgrimages earlier and the coming onslaught of summer vacationers.

L. ROBERT Listor, Memorial Day program director, announced today that all clubs, organizations and marching units that will be taking part in the Saturday parade should form on the north side of E. Main St. at 9:15 a.m. The Memorial Day parade begins at 9:30 a.m. from Memorial Hall.

Kidnapers Get Prison Terms

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Three men who escaped a Cleveland, Ohio, jail two months ago, taking two women as hostages, have pleaded guilty to kidnaping charges in U.S. District Court.

Judge Mac Swinford sentenced James Wayne Sykes, 25, Brookhaven, Miss.; Thomas E. Thomas, 20, Decatur, Ala.; and David N. Carpenter, 19, Cleveland, to 20 years in prison each.

In addition, the three received five-year terms for interstate transportation of a stolen car and Sykes and Thomas were sentenced to 10 years each on bank robbery charges.

The lesser prison terms are to be served concurrently with the terms for kidnaping, the judge ruled.

3 Jets Hijacked For Cuban Trips Within 24 Hours

MIAMI (AP) — An American Airlines crew planned to bring home today the last of a trio of jetliners—two of them American—hijacked to Cuba within 24 hours.

A red-haired woman who used her 12-year-old son as an interpreter was identified as one of the hijackers, a Mexican pilot said his plane was commandeered by four men trying to avenge a slain guerrilla leader, and the third sky pirate apparently was just a man with a gun.

The American Airlines Boeing 727 hijacked by the gunman remained overnight in Havana after letting him off. He had permitted the Chicago-to-New York plane to land for fuel at New York's Kennedy Airport and debark its 67 passengers before the run to Havana with its crew of seven.

Elsie Coen, a 35-year-old Chicago woman, said the hijacker was a clean cut man about 35. "He was sitting in my seat," she said, when he boarded in Chicago. "After I told him, he moved to the opposite aisle and said he was 'very sorry'."

An airline spokesman said the diversion was done "in a subdued manner."

The second plane to be hijacked was a Delta Airlines jet on a Chicago-Miami flight. Crew members said a Spanish-speaking woman accompanied by her young son pulled a gun from her purse soon after a stop at Atlanta.

Stewardess Judy Winger said the boy, carrying an armload of toys, followed his mother into the jet's cockpit and translated her command for a trip to Havana to the pilot.

The plane flew to Miami Monday night with 96 passengers and a crew of six after a stay of about 12 hours in Havana.

A Boeing 727 from Mexicana de Aviacion led the way for the gathering in Havana.

Capt. Antonio Chavez Guizar flew home to Mexico City Monday night, ending a trip that started over the resort island of Cozumel on Sunday night.

Capt. Chavez said his plane, carrying 95 persons, was hijacked by three Brazilians and a Mexican. The pilot said the quartet told him they were striking back at Mexican authorities for the killing of Guatemalan guerrilla leader Jose Antonio Yon Sosa and the army slaying of some students in Mexico City Oct. 2, 1968.

The Mexican government said an army patrol killed Sosa May 16.

North Viet Troops Slash At U.S. In Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops slashed into U.S. infantrymen in attacks 22 miles apart in Cambodia, killing eight of the Americans and wounding 35, the U.S. Command reported today. Enemy losses were not known.

The fighting raised American casualties in all Cambodian operations to 216 killed and 807 wounded, U.S. headquarters said. This was 15 more dead and 51 more wounded than the totals reported Monday.

A U.S. communique said American and South Vietnamese forces are encountering increased North Vietnamese activity in the Fishhook region of Cambodia north of Saigon.

Six Americans of the 25th Infantry Division were killed and 25 wounded in an hour-long fight before dawn two miles north of Mimot.

Awards Assembly Held At Circleville High School

TOP SENIORS — Karen Matesky, left, Paul Sarchet and Beth Spres display the trophies awarded for high scholastic achievement. The girls were named valedictorian and salutatorian respectively of their graduating class. They were presented the trophies at the annual awards assembly today at Circleville High School.

Circleville High School students gathered in the high school gymnasium Tuesday morning for their final assembly of the year during which outstanding class members were honored for achievement during the year.

Under the guidance of the new Student Council, teachers and honored guests, Mrs. Ron Lundberg and Virgil Cress presented trophies and awards to students in the top three grades.

Twenty-one seniors were awarded honor cords for earning a 3.2 average or better in their high school years. Salutatorian Beth Spres and Valedictorian Karen Matesky, were presented trophies by Principal Paul Sarchet.

Scholarship awards went to four seniors. Sheryl Binns was presented the Circleville Junior Women's Club Scholarship Award by Mrs. Ron Lundberg. Virgil Cress announced Dick Walters and Beth Smith recipients of the Kiwanis Key Award, given each year to a graduating senior girl and senior boy. Dick Walters was also presented with the American Legion's award for scoring highest in his class in the government test.

RECOGNIZED for their scholastic achievement during the assembly were: Chuck Whitfield and Marc Lackey, who earned two government awards each at a recent science fair; Ann Heffelfinger, winner of the Ohioana Award for a biographical sketch; Bev May, recipient of the DAR Good Citizen Award; Karen Matesky, Beth Spres and Patric Thomas, for placing in the National Merit Scholarship Test; Diana Berry and Mary Beth Rhodes, Girls' State delegates; Mike Fuller and Tom Bowers, "Boys' State delegates and the "In the Know" team.

Jaycee Industrial Awards were presented to Richard Campbell, Jerry Wharf, Jim Baker, Patric Thomas and Richard Radcliff.

In the home economics field, Beth Spres was named Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Year and Ethel Strawser received the sterling silver place setting as the graduate who made the greatest contribution to the local home ec program. Barbara Rheinscheldt was awarded the Crisco trophy for her outstanding work in the Foods and Nutrition area.

Janet Kochensperger was named outstanding senior in the Distributive Education field. A special award was presented to Mrs. Allen Strawser giving her honorary membership in the DECA organization for her service to the club.

Most Improved DE Senior awards were presented to Barbara Corne, Buddy Fausnaugh and Jeff Thompson. Marsha Long was named top DECA salesperson and Pauline Cupp and Danny Ogan were honored in the Leadership Development program.

Three persons received notice for placing in the state categories in the final scholastic aptitude tests given by the state. They were Margaret Ebert, Karen Reid and Linda Cordle in bookkeeping and Spanish.

Closing the ceremonies, retiring Student Council President Ty Ankrom presented the gavel to the new president Bill McGowan.

Stock List Goes Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved higher early this afternoon after recovering from mild early losses. Trading was moderate.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.56 at 644.92. Earlier it had been down more than 4.

Declines narrowed their margin over advances to a mere handful.

Analysts attributed the upswing to technical factors arising from what they called the deeply oversold condition of the market.

Some analysts said the rally might have been touched off by reports that the United States might pull its troops out of Cambodia before the June 30 deadline.

Some of the market strength was due to short covering, analysts said, which does not necessarily indicate any improvement in investor psychology.

Steels, motors, mail order-retail, metals, chemicals, and airlines were all generally higher. Oils, utilities, electronics, aircrafts, and rubber issues were mixed.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange began firming after modest losses in early trading. The Amex price-change index was unchanged at 19.57 after having been down 0.08 earlier.

Declines led advances by a good margin.

Cereal Leaf Beetle Hits County Fields

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

The cereal leaf beetle has made its presence known in Pickaway County small grain fields the past few days.

This particular beetle has caused serious small grain damage in Asia for many years. In recent years it has moved into the United States and now to Pickaway County.

The damage to oats and wheat will likely show up as an apparently frosted area with the white tips on the leaves.

Both the adult and the larvae chew long strips of plant tissue between the longitudinal leaf veins. Oat seedlings may die from severe feeding by this insect.

WHEAT damage may be limited to those fields that are late. The earlier maturing wheat plants will not be attractive to the cereal leaf beetle since they prefer younger, more tender plants.

The cereal leaf beetle feeds on several different plants, such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn and several grasses. However, economic concern only exists on oats and wheat.

To determine if fields need control measures a farmer should walk into the field and carefully count the number of larvae on 20 stems, make at least five different counts.

It takes at least an average of two larvae per stem to justify insecticide treatment. Seven and malathion are both recommended for control and should be applied according to the label.

Leaflet No. L-150, "The Cereal Leaf Beetle in Ohio," is available upon request at the County Extension Office.

Ashville Troop Participates In Scout-O-Rama

Boy Scout Troop 159 Ashville, participated in the 1970 Scout-O-Rama May 16-17 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

The troop, which is led by Ralph Boyd, presented a display covering the field of electricity.

The display consisted of a display of wire, several types of switches, receptacles, breakers, meters and lights. The highlight of the exhibit was a demonstration proving that distilled water would not conduct electricity and that tap water would.

The troop was judged at three different intervals, each time receiving an "Outstanding Showman" sticker. At the close of the revue the troop was awarded a Blue Ribobon.

LE Board Opens Electrical Bids

The Logan Elm Board of Education opened bids for the dismantling walls and for the electrical contract Monday for the new school building.

Bids on the two portions of the construction of the new exchange school building to be located on the site of the high school were considered too large at the first bid opening and were readvertised.

John Henn, executive head of the district, said that contracts will probably be awarded next Monday. Architects and the school board are still negotiating with the bidders on the contracts.

Deputies Apprehend Juvenile Escapee

A 17-year-old escapee from the Fairfield School for Boys was apprehended at 7:54 a.m. Monday in a trailer court in Madison Township.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Charles Dolby and John Bost captured the youth and returned him to Pickaway County jail for transfer to the Fairfield School for Boys.

COUNTY OFFICIALS — Commissioners Charles Morris, Dick T. Tootle and Wayne Hines were at the groundbreaking for the new Pickaway County Airport today. The contract for construction of the landing strip has been awarded to V&Y Construction Co. A luncheon was held at the L-K Restaurant following the ceremonies.

Wage, Price . . .

gress, Rep. John W. Byrnes, ranking GOP member of the House Ways and Means Committee, told Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo they are taxing the credulity of the American people by insisting the budget is nearly in balance and asking for an $18 billion increase in the debt ceiling.

"Things are not going well, despite administration statements," Harris told the Senate.

His bill calls for creation of a National Economic Equity Board that would have the authority to set voluntary price-wage guidelines. In addition, the board could set credit controls to be enacted by the Federal Reserve Board.

The board also would have the power, "if it found it necessary, to institute price and wage freezes for up to six months to halt the present inflationary spiral."

Harris said Nixon already has the power to enforce about three-fourths of what his bill proposes. "But the administration keeps insisting things are getting better," Harris explained.

House Leader Albert of Oklahoma charged Nixon administration economic policies have promoted inflation while refusing to clamp down on wage and price hikes. At the same time, he said, the administration's tight money policies have boosted unemployment to 4.8 per cent.

Mansfield of Montana said the falling stock market "portends there are worse things left to come."

The union economists met privately with Shultz to express "concern about the lack of effective government policy against the combined recession and inflation."

The 14 officials, representing the AFL-CIO and some of its unions, urged selective controls be applied on credit to supply low-interest funds for housing, and for schools and hospitals.

If selective credit controls are not applied, the group said, a federal freeze should be imposed on prices, profits, wages and salaries.

'Grown' Children Ignore Mom

DEAR ABBY: When I was younger — I am now 70 — I wondered why elderly people left their estates to churches, institutions, charities, etc. Now I know.

My son lives across the United States from me, and I am lucky if I get a letter from him in 6 weeks. I never hear from my daughter-in-law.

My daughter and her family live 30 miles from me. I get a phone call maybe once every 2 weeks or so to let me know they are in the land of the living. My grandchildren never come to see me.

I know we are supposed to encourage our children to live their own lives when they marry and leave home, but isn't this carrying it to extremes?

LONELY IN OREGON
DEAR LONELY: Yes. You successfully reared your children to be independent, for which you are to be congratulated. Unfortunately, you failed to develop sufficient interests of your own to insure yourself against loneliness. It may not be too late. (Other parents should take a page out of your book.)

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law said that when you were young, you were a "go go" dancer in Las Vegas. Correct or not?

News Team Raps Guard About KSU

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A Knight Newspapers Inc. reporting team investigating the May 4 shootings at Kent State University has concluded that none of the shootings was necessary to satisfy law enforcement needs.

The team of 11 reporters, whose 30,000-word report on the Kent violence was published Sunday in the Akron Beacon Journal, said their conclusions were consistent with findings of federal investigators.

The team said the interviews with students, Ohio National Guardsmen, university officials and Kent townspeople also turned up no evidence that a sniper fired at guardsmen before they fired at students, killing four and wounding nine others.

The reporters said they found that guardsmen fired without orders, some firing at random and some aiming deliberately at students.

They said guardsmen were not surrounded by demonstrators and could have taken several other courses of action. The reporters said none of the students killed was a political radical and none had thrown rocks at the guardsmen.

After the shootings, Ohio National Guard officials contended that a sniper had fired at troops on the campus before they fired on a crowd of demonstrating students, some of whom were throwing rocks and chunks of concrete at the guardsmen.

Commencement Called 'Freaky'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Only about half of the 257 graduates of Reed College were on hand for commencement exercises Sunday and some of those who did show up handed flowers to President Victor Rosenblum in exchange for diplomas.

One student gave Rosenblum a diploma. A girl wore a flower in her tasseled cap. Several others took off their gowns on the warm day and appeared in jeans or miniskirts.

One student released a balloon as she got her diploma.

S.I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, was present to see his son, Alvin, and daughter-in-law, Cynthia, graduate. The noted scholar of semantics had a word for the ceremony: "Freaky."

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Most people think of a vice president as the No. 2 man in an organization. But you must really have to try harder if you're a V.P. at a place like Bankers Trust Co. in New York.

Bankers Trust boasts what has to be one of the longest lists of vice presidents of any corporate entity in the country — it includes nearly 300 names.

Why would any management setup include 300 vice presidents?

"During the past 10 years banks have tended to decentralize and their structure has changed," a Bankers Trust spokesman said. "As a consequence, responsibilities are delegated along a broader spectrum. Various departments and divisions are more autonomous, and the men who head them are given titles commensurate with their responsibilities."

The banking fraternity is far more likely to have large numbers of vice presidents than industrial concerns.

General Motors, the world's largest private industrial firm, has a modest four executive V.P.'s and 31 regular vice presidents.

At General Electric there are 63 vice presidents, excluding a number of regional vice presidents. But then GE doesn't have a president; it's chairman and three vice chairmen share in running the company.

One-product company or diversified giant, the vice president can fill various management needs.

Booz, Allen & Hamilton, a consulting firm which helps streamline thousands of corporate managements, has about 400 employees, more than 100 of whom have the vice president's title.

A banker suggested that industry has fewer vice presidents because it chooses to call them something else — division director, for instance.

But the point is that being a vice president does sound more impressive than being a division director.

And despite the fact that the tribe has increased, there is still glamor, prestige and money attached to the title.

"Sharing the title with a hundred other guys doesn't take the gloss off it," an assistant vice president of a New York bank explained. "I'd love to be one and my wife would love me to be one and my mother, who has always known I'm exceptionally talented, would love me to be one."

Laff-A-Day

"Come on, son. We'll have a man-to-man talk while we're doing the dishes."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A KINGPIN in the cosmetics industry tried in vain to get his wife on the phone the other evening. For a solid hour the busy signal kept buzzing. Finally, he appealed to the head of his local exchange to cut in for him. "We can do this only if there's a dire emergency," he was told, "if it's a matter of life or death."

"That's what it's going to be, all right," promised the cosmetics man grimly, "if I find out it's been my teen-age daughter on the phone all this time."

Two playwrights who professed to love and admire each other but were, in reality, consumed with mutual jealousy, met in the lobby of a theatre where one of them had a play running. "Too bad you couldn't come up with anything this year," boomed the latter, "but what has brought you to this little smash hit of mine?"

Adroit Commentator David Frost has this to say about English critics: "When a reviewer in London today calls a book 'Rabelaisian' he means 'filthy.' A tender and evocative story means 'very filthy.' A book I finally warmed to translates to 'the filthy bits are at the end' and 'a book I could not finish' means 'the filthy bits are at the beginning.'"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

W. Somerset Maugham, the English novelist, once said, "If one values anything more than freedom he will lose it." To paraphrase that brilliant statement it must be said that if one values anything more than health, he will lose it.

Both statements in essence indicate that freedom and health are too often taken for granted. It is only when they are lost that one first realizes the value of these possessions. Physicians everywhere are amazed by the total disregard that so many people have for the delicacy of the structure of their bodies.

They burden themselves with excess weight. They diminish their resistance by fatigue. They impair their blood circulation with tobacco. They strain the resources of the liver by immoderate alcohol intake. They neglect early symptoms that the body may while pleading to be recognized.

How many people in our total population ever seek the advice of a doctor in the absence of pain? The number would be few indeed.

It is only when the discomfort interferes with daily activity on the job or at home that the physical examination is sought. By then the underlying disorder may need far longer and far more intense treatment than if it had been found earlier and treated immediately.

In the long run it costs the patient more in time and money when a neglected illness is treated than when it is diagnosed early.

Taking health for granted is not the wise thing to do.

A rather pathetic letter from a reader says, "For years we have tried to avoid the suggestion that our father needed to be confined to a mental hospital. Our doctor has been urging us to do this, but we have been ashamed."

"The other day he tried to kill himself after a terrible argument at home. The police were called in because he tried to kill us, too. Now he is in a police hospital ward and we don't know whom to turn to."

Let me immediately tell you and your family that the single person who can best help you is your own doctor. He will not take it as a personal affront because his advice was not taken. Undoubtedly, he will be just as sorry as you are and will extend himself in every way to ease your burden.

Despite all the educational campaigns that emphasize there is no shame in mental illness, it is surprising that so many people still consider it to be a condition that must be hidden or avoided. Mental disease

Assaulted On The Campus

So the violence on the campuses comes from the Establishment "oppressors," the "pigs," the "super-patriots"? The dissidents are merely peaceful demonstrators? You might think so for all that you see on the TV screen or read in some reports.

But if you really believe this to be true, it is because you have never had the privilege of listening to Major Richard H. Esau, Jr., a Marine Corps veteran with two Purple Heart decorations from Vietnam who has had the unhappy, though interesting, job of covering seventy-five eastern campuses to recruit volunteer officer candidates for his branch of the service. Major Esau has witnessed forty-six violent college demonstrations and he says he felt considerably safer in Vietnam than he does doing "his thing" when surrounded by the "2 per cent" hard-core radicals who now "run the campuses" — because the moderates — who represent 88 per cent of the students — don't dare assert themselves. Just to get Major Esau's arithmetic straight, the radical revolutionary "2 per cent" is balanced on the extreme right by another 2 per cent, who are just as vicious as the revolutionaries. This leaves 8 per cent to be accounted for.

The major says this particular group consists of chronic "under-achievers" who spout the line of the revolutionaries, but who fade back into the woodwork "whence they came" if they are actively opposed.

Major Esau says he has been assaulted on a college campus. It happened at C. W. Post College on Long Island. In accordance with his orders to maintain "composure" at all times, he didn't assault back. It was a little fellow, all of 120 pounds with "a rock in his pocket," who walked up to him and hit him on the chest. The major happened to catch, out of the corner of his eye, the movement of an accomplice of the little fellow who was standing in the wings with his camera on the ready to photograph any retaliatory blow by a Marine "pig."

Major Esau waited for his 120-pound assailant to open his eyes and come out of his crouch. When the little fellow asked him why he hadn't given blow for blow, the major said, "I don't hit children. But if you hit me again, I'll go over and smash your friend with the camera so he won't take any pictures which you could say represented a brutal assault."

The major gets tired of being taunted with such questions as "How many babies have you killed?" However, he says composure is the key to winning the 88 per cent of the college students who are the moderates. His answer to the baby-killer taunt is, "If I don't kill you, I haven't killed any."

The major says that the 2 per cent who are the revolutionaries really mean business. They are out to tear the U.S. down, and if they are not checked they will do it one of these days. Who is going to stop them? Not the college administrators, whom the major finds to be a bunch of chicken-hearted vacillators. Not the faculties, who are, many of them, the ideological accomplices of the violent 2 per cent. The key to stopping the revolutionaries is the moderate middle, particularly the girls, who have more guts than the boys. However, the moderates must not be martyred, as they were at Kent State. To Major Esau, the National Guard at Kent State was victimized by a deplorable leadership. The members of the guard who fired the fatal shots might have used four or five means out of the book of riot control without resorting to bullets meant to kill.

They might have (a) read a warning proclamation, (b) moved with fixed bayonets to break up the crowd and disperse it, (c) issued a second warning if the crowd reassembled, (d) fired a single shot over the head of the radical leader with the bullhorn, and (e) if this didn't end the demonstration, another single shot at the leader's legs would surely have made the necessary point.

The moderates, says the major, will turn against the radicals once they realize they are being cheated by violence out of the college educations they are paying to get. Incidentally, the major makes some headway with rational people by telling them that the Nixon Cambodian operation has forced the enemy to fight on five fronts, in western Cambodia against Cambodians, in eastern Cambodia against the South Vietnamese and the U.S., in Laos against the Royal Laotians, in northeast Thailand against the Thais, and inside South Vietnam itself. "There's an old Chinese proverb," he says, "that when you are holding down five flies it takes all five fingers."

The major is quite a man. Would that he were in the U.S. Senate to put Fulbright, Goodell, Mansfield, McGovern and the rest of the unthinking doves in their place.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman CHALMERS P. WYLIE 15th District of Ohio

On Thursday, the House passed the Social Security Amendments of 1970. Social Security payments to the 26.2 million beneficiaries on the rolls at the end of January, 1971 and to those who become eligible after that date would be increased by 5 per cent across-the-board. This means an additional $1.7 billion in benefit payments in 1971.

The amount a beneficiary under age 72 may earn in a year and still be paid full Social Security benefits for the year would be increased from the present level of $1,680 to $2,000. From $2,000 to $3,200 per year, there would be a reduction of $1 for each $2 earned.

Under present law, a widow's benefit applied for at age 62 or later is equal to 82½ per cent of the primary insurance amount of the wage earner. An actuarially reduced benefit may be received by a widow at age 60. Under the bill a widow or widower will be entitled to a benefit equal to 100 per cent of the primary insurance amount, if first applied for at age 65 or later. Benefits applied for between age 62 and 65 would be proportionately increased over the present 82½ per cent rate according to the age of application. In addition, widowers under age 62 would be granted the same privilege of applying for benefits on an actuarially reduced basis as now applies to widows.

Under present law, women may receive benefits at age 62 while men must wait until age 65. This difference is eliminated so that all will be eligible for benefits at age 62. Also contained in the bill are provisions pertaining to support requirements for divorced women, childhood disability benefits and health care benefits.

In order to pay for the increase in benefits, the tax and benefit base will be increased from $7,800 to $9,000 a year, starting January 1, 1971. The combined employer-employee rate will be increased from 4.8 per cent to 6.0 per cent by 1975.

On Monday, May 18, the House passed Customs Court reforms by a unanimous vote. Recently, a number of international economic developments have made a substantial impact on the work of the Bureau of Customs and the U.S. Customs Court. These include a significant increase in imports, a new set of tariff schedules, and a more aggressive attitude by American importers and manufacturers concerning custom problems. As a consequence, there has been a sharp rise in the number of Like many rivers and lakes, the world's oceans are in danger of being destroyed by the effluents of modern technology. Oil pollution from ships constitutes one of the greatest dangers to the marine environment. In the past 30 years, the seaborne transportation of oil has increased to the point where it constitutes 60 per cent of the world's marine commerce. As shipping increases, so does the hazard from oil pollution. There have been over 550 tanker collisions in the past 10 years. Ships of all types, including tankers, flush their bilges of oily wastes at sea. The oil pollution of the sea can and must be halted.

On May 20, President Nixon sent a message to the Congress which outlines a program of Congressional and Executive action to reduce the risks of marine oil pollution.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you get rid of your anger?

You can't just keep it bottled up and go on smiling like a painted face on a punching bag. Psychiatrists say that if you do your stomach may become as mottled with ulcers as if you had inside measles. Whatever is bothering you has to be expressed somehow.

On the other hand, you can't just shout aloud your annoyance or irritation at the things about life which vex you. To do this only embarrasses yourself, troubles your friends, and pleases your enemies.

But how can you get rid of your pent-up spleen without making a public display of your temper? An old man once told me his secret:

"When you get too grouchy to live with yourself, write down on a piece of paper a list of the things that bother you. That'll get them out of your system. Read the list over five times, then take a match and burn it up. You can't help but feel better."

I think I'll give his system a try. Here, on a rainy day in May, are one man's pet peeves and momentary discontents:

All forms of government which require a citizen to fill out government forms.

Guys who have to put an arm around your shoulders before whispering an off-color joke in your ear.

People who tell you something for your own good—but which leaves you feeling bad and them virtuous.

Airline hostesses who will give you five drinks of coffee, tea or milk but only two drinks of anything that will actually help you get over your fear of flying.

Secretaries who exchange racy office gossip at the next company cafeteria table in voices so low you can't quite overhear them.

Girls with wobbly ankles and adenoids who pronounce tomato "toe-MAHHH-toe" and Plaza "PLAWWWHHH-zuh."

Anything that gums up a $750 set of dentures.

Girls who tell a fellow he'd look cute with long sideburns when they know darned well that if he did let them grow they'd come out white.

Dear Editor:

Is "how the time?" To me the words of our constitution, "of the people, by the people, and for the people under God" have real meaning.

I believe that when a nation of which I am a part violates the principles I uphold as a Christian I am morally obligated to protest. I affirm Abraham Lincoln's statement: "To sin by silence when they should protest makes cowards of men." I believe valid protest is a right of every citizen including students.

I am dedicated to the practice of non-violence because I feel the way of disciplined-love is essential to the real progress of mankind. Although I do not go along with all student demands, I feel some are justified and should be heard.

It is still not untrue that many just student demands have been ignored too long. I believe the way to build security within our nation is the right social ills — to genuinely concern ourselves with solving problems here at home.

Many young people are committed to this end and in a non-violent way. To indicate that their dissent is "treason" is completely wrong. (Dissent is not necessarily "Communist-inspired" as implied by a recent Herald editorial).

When I realize that only 11 cents out of every tax dollar is left to build American society I think we must re-evaluate what we feel really has priority in our land. To finance past, present, and future wars we spend 70 cents of every federal tax dollar. It is impossible to solve our nation's problems when we allocate such large resources to "military" security.

Again I deplore violent protest. It is truly a "debased language." Yet throughout history dissent has been more effectively expressed by words than by guns. In our own American revolution it was shown that brilliant words perhaps proved more effective than brilliant military strategy. Tom Paine's words gave courageous leadership "in the times that try men's souls."

Let us give a chance to those who desire to have their words of dissent be constructive. I encourage positive action to keep the lines of communication open between students, faculty, administration and government.

MRS. T. A. DOWNING 163 W. Mound

Dear Editor:

I have never written a letter to an editor before, but enjoy reading your page.

Saturday afternoon I went to Forest Cemetery to water the flowers on my lot.

I had painted my white wrought iron bench and took it out there Friday evening. Imagine my consternation to find it gone, in just one day.

I knew there had been flowers stolen from the cemetery, but this was my first experience with thieves.

As we all know if and when a thief is caught, he is many times given a reprimand and put on probation to steal again.

As long as our courts and Judges remain lenient to criminals, so long will the thieves remain with us.

It is really expecting too much of our policemen to put their lives on the line apprehending a criminal, when too much leniency is granted the criminal from the Supreme Court on down.

As to the riots on college campuses. If the parents of the trouble-makers would cut off all support, and they had to work their way through college, if they wanted an education, they would be too busy to riot.

It is wrong for the majority on campus who want an education to be kept from their studies by a minority of misfits.

MRS. BONNIE R. FRAZIER Route 1

Dear Editor:

According to Mr. Bowsher's letter of May 21, 1970, he feels that the instigators of college riots should not be turned over to their local draft boards.

I agree, the services are not penal institutions, but how many students, since the majority have never yet had experience, realize this. Why should innocent boys have to be away from their friends and families, perhaps permanently, because they have a duty? Isn't this in its own way punishment to the innocent ones?

Why then, should these agitators, who destroy property, cause serious accidents, maybe even deaths, and deprive hardworking students from their education, not be inducted — so they can be where the action really is — so they have firsthand knowledge as to what they are protesting?

The petition that Mr. Bowsher is criticizing is the voice of the silent majority of Circleville, and we as interested citizens should support all the requests on it.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's "Now" series of short documentaries on Monday night took a quick but eminently fair look at the women's liberation movement.

A lot of the news about the "unfinished revolution of American women"—as narrator Marlene Sanders called it—has focused on bizarre antics of the most militant and radical of the feminist groups. This half hour went to the core of women's discontent and may have even made some converts.

The program opened with shots of coeds performing satirical skits showing woman's place and singing a dirge about "better be dead than not to be wed."

Miss Sanders noted that the "rhetoric is often strident," and made a comparison between the struggle for sexual equality with the struggle for racial equality. But certainly the emotional talk of being exploited as sex objects and the sight of a bunch of women wolf-whistling at male passersby did not improve the female image.

More impressive were scenes showing serious groups of women taking self-protective judo lessons in "learning to discard their roles as victims" or demonstrating for the abolition or reform of abortion laws.

The program was most effective in pinpointing discrimination in pay and opportunities for careers. Woman's lib obviously is more than a fad and seems to be worthy of more detailed and serious treatment by television.

Even if, as Miss Sanders suggests, it makes men feel threatened, it is a part of the times, she wound up the program with a telling thrust: "It's a man's world—and just look at it. Move over, gentlemen. Maybe you could use some help."

CBS originally announced that Glen Campbell's July and August replacement would be a comedy hour called "Rap." The program's title has now been officially changed to "Comedy Tonight."

The new title, while hardly electrifying, may be more precise than the original. "To rap" in current youth-jargon means—approximately—to converse. The hip, young crowd might have believed that the program was still another of the talk shows.

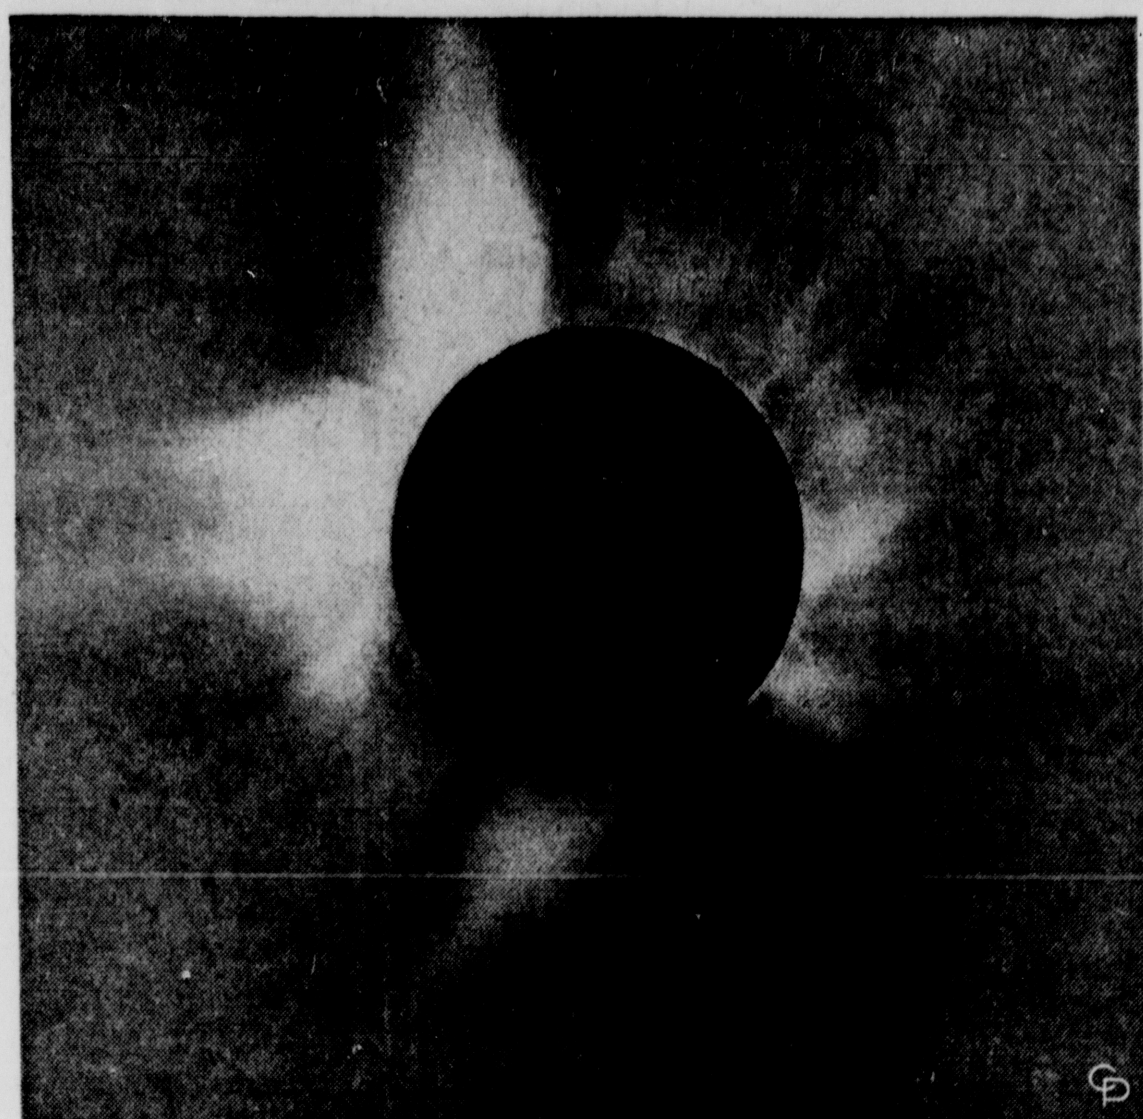

Titles really don't mean much in TV. Does any member of the viewing audience really call it "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour"?

Now NBC has decided to call one of its summer replacements "Andy Williams Presents the Ray Stevens Show?" In the first place the two question marks look like a typographical error and probably won't be used.

Illegal Abortion Business Flourishes In Puerto Rico

By RUBEN O. ARRIETA
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Illegal abortion, a business that has flourished for years in this island, faces stiff competition July 1 when most abortions become legal for residents of New York State.

By one estimate, there are 18,000 illegal abortions in Puerto Rico each year, with 10,000 of the patients originating off-island, primarily from the New York City area.

An abortion here is understood to cost between $300 and $700. Some practitioners have charged as much as $1,000.

Conviction for performing an illegal abortion, and virtually all abortions here are illegal, could bring two to five years in prison. In the event of a patient's death the law provides for a charge of second-degree murder. Since 1959, only four persons have been charged, and none has been convicted. The Puerto Rico Medical Association offers a $10,000 reward for information that will help produce a conviction. No one has ever collected it.

Authorities are reluctant to discuss the abortion racket. Police failed a few years ago in an attempt to trap a suspected practitioner who apparently was tipped off.

A woman who had come from New York to obtain an abortion changed her mind and agreed to help police obtain evidence against the suspect. He put an end to the plan by charging her with seeking the operation. She was at the point of going to jail when the authorities admitted that she was acting as a police agent.

Discussing the difficulty of obtaining evidence, Alcides Oquendo of the Department of Justice says: "The woman that receives such an abortion cannot bring her complaint to the authorities because she also has committed a crime by submitting herself to the abortion."

The patient is subject to a jail sentence of five years. Another difficulty is that conviction requires the testimony of one witness besides the treated woman.

A bill before the legislature this year sought to legalize operations for victims of rape or incest. Its sponsor argued that this would protect women in poor families.

The bill passed the House but Gov. Luis A. Ferre opposed it. During the closing days of the legislature, several thousand persons joined in a march sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church hierarchy to oppose both abortion reform and a proposed liberalization of divorce laws. The Senate did not act.

Court Reverses Go-Go Dancer's Guilty Finding

CINCINNATI (AP) — An appellate court has reversed the conviction of a go-go dancer who took a stroll on a busy downtown street Aug. 27 and went topless except for "pasties."

Patti Wayne, 22, was convicted by jury Oct. 31 on charges of indecent exposure and indecent behavior, but Judge Otis Hess of the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the city's law against indecent exposure applies to men only.

He also ruled that "there is nothing in evidence to show she made any motions or movements which could be construed to create any prurient interest... unless the exposure of her body... is sufficient to establish indecent conduct" and he said it is not.

2 Teen-Aged Boys Given Sentences In Slaying Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen-year-old John Hardrick and 19-year-old Leslie Jackson, both of Cleveland, were sentenced to the Mansfield Youth Center on delinquency charges Monday in connection with the July 23, 1968, shootout in the city's Glenview section.

The pair, who had been originally charged with first-degree murder for the slayings of three policemen and a civilian, will serve time until their 21st birthdays at the maximum, according to Cuyahoga County Juvenile Judge Walter G. Whitlatch.

The sentencing by Whitlatch followed the nullification by the Ohio Supreme Court of the Common Pleas Court's first-degree murder indictments. The Supreme court referred the cases back to juvenile court for a finding of delinquency.

The actual juvenile charges against the pair were for wounding Police Lt. Elmer Joseph during the shootout between Black Nationalists and police. Police said a bullet in Joseph's leg was traced to a rifle used by the pair.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Charles R. Laurie said the pair could have been re-indicted in Common Pleas Court, "but they were not ring-leaders and besides, many key witnesses are no longer available."

Hardrick and Jackson have been in the county jail since their arrest in a home near the scene of the shootout.

Their sentencing completes legal action against the five persons charged in the disturbance.

Fred "Ahmed" Evans, 38, is currently appealing his death sentence. He was found guilty in May 1969, of seven counts of first-degree murder.

Lathan Donald, 20, was convicted of first-degree murder and given mercy by the jury, and Alfred Thomas, 19, was declared legally insane and sent to Lima State Hospital.

Funeral Director In Tax Trouble

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Wintersville, Ohio, funeral director pleaded no contest to a charge of federal income tax evasion in U.S. District Court Monday and was found guilty by Judge Thomas D. Lambros.

Sentencing of Donald W. Dunlope, 60, was delayed pending a probation department report. It was charged that Dunlope failed to report 13 funerals when he reported his income in 1963 as $8,905. The government contended his income was $18,119.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert R. Bauer said Dunlope owed the government $2,725 in taxes for 1963.

Supreme Court Voids Uniform Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided Monday it is not illegal for a person participating in a street skit critical of the war in Vietnam to wear parts of an Army uniform.

Actors, the court said in a unanimous 8-0 opinion, have a right to wear the uniform or parts of it in a theatrical performance, and also have the constitutional right of free speech, including the right to criticize the government.

To hold otherwise, the high court said, would mean that an actor, under such circumstances would be free to praise the war in Vietnam but could be sent to prison for opposing it.

The high court reversed the conviction in federal court in Houston, Tex., of Daniel Jay Schacht on a charge he violated a law prohibiting civilians from wearing the uniform or parts of it without specific permission.

In other actions today, the court:

—Upheld, in a Philadelphia case, the authority of urban officials to prohibit groups of people from assembling on city streets in times of emergency.

—Strengthened the right to a speedy trial by throwing out the robbery conviction of a Florida truck driver who was not tried until eight years after he had been arrested.

—Acted to promote integration of small picnic parks and local "swimming holes" by refusing to hear a private Virginia operator who is under orders to admit Negroes.

Miss Margaret B. Grayson Weds Mr. Joseph Adkins III

MRS. JOSEPH WILFORD ADKINS III

Miss Margaret Bennett Grayson and Mr. Joseph Wilford Adkins III exchanged wedding vows 4 p.m. Saturday, May 23 in Madison Ave., Presbyterian Church, New York City.

Dr. David H. C. Read performed the single ring ceremony before the altar adorned with arrangements of white gladioli and daisies for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand V. Grayson, New Orleans, La., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilford Adkins Jr., 315 Northridge Road.

Dr. George Markey, organist, and Mr. James Williams, vocalist, presented a program preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding day a gown of ivory reembodyered lace and silk cloud peau d'oeil. The Empire bodice of Alencon lace with a high wedding band neckline featured criss-cross embroidery and pearls, as did the long fitted sleeves. The full train was attached to the back at the waistline. The bride's elbow length bouffant veil was attached to a Camelot cap of lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses with gardenias and baby ivy.

Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Bennett Grayson of New Orleans, sister of the bride. She was attired in an apricot colored gown of silk-linen with a full gathered back tier falling from a high yoke. She carried a bouquet of apricot colored roses, violet bachelor buttons, babies breath and baby ivy.

Bridesmaids, Miss Judith E. Adkins, sister of the groom, Boston, Mass.; Miss Jean Greco, New York City; Miss Yvonne Strachwitz, Lawrence, N. Y., and Mrs. Togar White of Hopewell, Va., were dressed identically to the maid of honor and carried similar bouquets.

Performing the duties of best man was Mr. Paul Neimeyer of Baltimore, Md. Ushers were Mr. James Williams, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. Brent Bell, Mr. Roger Bennington, Circleville; Mr. Thomas McGrath, Mr. William Christiansse, New York City.

Mrs. Grayson was attired in a suit-dress, with coat, of aqua silk. Mrs. Adkins wore a two-piece printed silk dress with a full length coat. The corsages both mothers wore were made of white sweetheart roses.

A reception at the New York Junior League, New York City, immediately following the ceremony. Tables for the guests were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

For a wedding trip to Jamaica and the West Indies, the bride wore as her going-away costume an emerald green suit-dress of rough silk material. The couple will reside in New York City.

The new Mrs. Adkins is a graduate of Louisiana State University where she received a BS in education, and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She was employed as a hostess with Pan American World Airways from 1967-69 and is presently employed at the Chemical Bank in New York City as administrative assistant in personnel and management training.

Mr. Adkins graduated from Kenyon College, Gambier, in 1963, where he received a BA degree in economics. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is currently employed in New York City as a senior brokerage consultant at Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Madison Ave. office.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included friends from Ohio, Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Maine, Germany, Illinois, Louisiana and Canada.

Newcomer's Club Holds Installation

Newcomer's Club held its annual banquet and installation of officers at the L-K Restaurant Wednesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Philip Leahy, gave a brief summary of the club's activities during the past year and introduced Mrs. Wayne Lehman as a special guest.

Mrs. James Butler, vice president, gave a short review of the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Officers installed for the coming year are: president, Mrs. Thomas Bevan; vice president, Mrs. Glen Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Donald Marquart; and treasurer, Mrs. John Fronk.

Mrs. Bevan outlined briefly planned activities for the coming year, presented the past president with a gift from the members, and announced committee chairman for her tenure as follows: telephone, Mrs. Jack Luce; interest, Mrs. George Bushygeager; hospitality, Mrs. Thomas Dickert; sunshine, Mrs. Ralph Morehart; publicity, Mrs. Lawrence Thompson; and historian, Mrs. Thomas Williams.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. John Hanka, Mrs. Paul Semanari and Mrs. Jack Luce.

Guild 6 Plans Family Picnic

Mrs. George D. Horn, 129 W. Mill St., entertained members of Berger Hospital Guild 6 at her home Tuesday evening.

The business agenda included a discussion of the recent General Guild meeting and final preparations for the Spring Lawn Festival.

A picnic for members and their families will be held June 16 at Gold Cliff Park.

Mrs. Horn served a dessert course and work was done on the guild's project for the Festival.

Mrs. Ben Temple will be hostess for the next meeting to be held in September.

accessories and uncovered eight more stock piles of war materials and food, military spokesmen said.

Official sources reported the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces had taken enough rice from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps in Cambodia to feed all of the 55,000 enemy troops operating in South Vietnam's 3rd Corps tactical zone for two months. This is the 10,000-square-mile zone that runs from the coast through Saigon to the Cambodian border and extends along the border for 231 miles.

Allied headquarters said 9,236 enemy troops have been killed in the Cambodian operations and 1,225 prisoners have been taken. Spokesmen said allied forces have captured or destroyed 15,484 weapons, more than 1,000 tons of ammunition, including nearly 14,000 rockets and mortar rounds, and more than 5,000 tons of rice and other food.

A revised report from South Vietnamese headquarters said 504 government troops had been killed and 2,173 wounded in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese headquarters also announced the end of a 16,000-man operation in the enemy's southernmost sanctuary in Cambodia, an eight-day drive west from the Mekong Delta along the Gulf of Siam coast.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the first Senate vote on the issue pending, the Cambodia debate has been spurred anew with speculation of future U.S. involvement across the South Vietnamese border.

The roll call is being viewed as only a brief pause in the torrent of words on Cambodia, a subject which has dominated business in the chamber for ten days.

Both sides in the dispute about legislation to cut off funds for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia after July 1 acknowledged the vote today would have little significance.

The measure involved is a conciliatory change in the cutoff amendment, to declare that it is "in concert with the declared objectives of the President" that U.S. forces be withdrawn from Cambodia by June 30. This amounts to an "amendment of an amendment."

It was deemed certain to pass, but the White House already has sent word that it will not alter administration opposition to the basic amendment. Indications of future U.S. involvement in support of South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia drew protests from Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., chief sponsors of the main fund cutoff proposal.

Cooper urged the administration to press Saigon for the withdrawal of its troops from Cambodia in line with the June 30 timetable President Nixon has announced for American forces.

He said any involvement after June 30 would make American participation probable in a war supporting the current government of Cambodia, headed by Premier Lon Nol.

The Senate amendment still to be scheduled for a vote would forbid spending on activities in support of Cambodian forces.

"The thrust of that amendment is to say that we shall not become engaged in a longer war in Cambodia without the Congress, and thereby the people, being involved in that decision," Cooper said.

Church said he assumed Nixon would reject any Cambodian request that U.S. forces remain in that nation after June 30. But he also noted that Saigon has declared its troops will stay.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the GOP whip, said Nixon will adhere to his withdrawal timetable.

"We do not make all the decisions of the government of South Vietnam," Griffin said.

"I believe him," Griffin said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interest rates on conventional home mortgages have dropped for the first time in a year and a half, but the government doesn't believe the one month reversal is enough to be called the start of a trend.

The average effective rate on mortgages in April dropped to 8.40 per cent from 8.47 in March. It was the first backslide for the indicator since November 1968 when rates fell to 7.21 per cent from 7.23 in October.

Man Is Killed In Big Walnut Bridge Crash

One man was killed and a woman seriously injured in an auto accident late Monday afternoon when their auto smashed into a steel bridge on Lockbourne Road over the Big Walnut Creek.

Paul E. Wemmer, 36, of Columbus, was pronounced dead on arrival at Mercy Hospital in Columbus. He was a passenger in a car driven by his 41-year-old wife, Genevieve. She is listed in critical condition at the hospital of injuries she sustained in the crash.

According to the Circleville Post of the Highway Patrol who are investigating the accident, Mrs. Wemmer was headed north on Lockbourne Road and pulled out to pass an auto, crossing a double yellow line. Cutting back into right lane to avoid striking an oncoming vehicle, the woman apparently lost control of her car and hit the east side of the bridge. The car then bounced off the bridge and slid across the road, smashing into the other side.

Wemmer's auto was totally demolished and the bridge heavily damaged, estimates setting cost at $4000. Franklin County engineers have closed the bridge until repairs can be made.

13 Interviewed For Westfall Superintendency

The Westfall Board of Education interviewed 13 applicants for the position of superintendent of the district Monday.

Two of the applicants were asked to return for another interview next Monday.

The position was vacated when Judson Lanman, present superintendent, resigned to accept the post of County superintendent.

Lanman will succeed George McDowell, who announced his retirement early this month.

PACTO Asks Full Power From FAA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, after snarling the nation's airports three times in two years, is fighting to become the sole official union of the government's 11,500 controllers.

But the Federal Aviation Administration and a rival union have staked out their position in advance of Labor Department hearings on the matter Tuesday.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer contends a single nationwide unit would be inappropriate to the FAA's decentralized management.

He also has told the Labor Department he considers PATCO an unlawful organization because of a one-day "sick-out" and stick-to-rules action last June and a more recent "sick-out" that began last March 25, peaking five days later and subsiding around mid-April. He did not mention PATCO's "Operation Air Safety" that caused major delays and tieups in summer 1968.

The National Association of Government Employees, which has negotiated 160 local contracts for controllers, also is opposing PATCO's bid and has accused it of unfair labor practices in the March "sick-out."

Another controller group, the Air Traffic Control Association, also is expected to challenge PATCO's legality, although ATCA is a professional organization and is not competing for union recognition.

In addition, PATCO's legality is expected to be challenged by the American Federation of Government Employees, the National Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Transportation Department Lashes Critics Of SST Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — In unusually strong terms for a government agency, the Department of Transportation has lashed out at critics of its program to develop a supersonic transport plane—the SST.

Pointing to claims the SST will cause air pollution, result in destructive sonic booms and is too costly, the department said in a six-page statement:

"Many of these arguments are specious. None has any substantial basis in fact."

The Transportation Department's defense of the 1,700-mile-an-hour SST came as one leading critic, Sen. William Proxmire, told the Senate in a prepared speech today the plane "will probably never be able to fly in the United States."

The Wisconsin Democrat said recent testimony by Russell Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, indicated "the SST will not be capable of operating within the noise limits already announced by the FAA for subsonic aircraft."

Citing Dr. Richard Carwin, a former presidential science adviser, Proxmire said noise from the SST "will be equivalent to the sound of 50 subsonic jets taking off simultaneously."

"It is highly improbable that this kind of environmental monster will ever be permitted to use our airports," Proxmire said.

In its statement, the Transportation Department said "There have been many fanciful charges that the overpass of an SST at supersonic speeds would disrupt the earth's natural environment."

"This is not true for several reasons," the statement went on.

"First, there are very few land areas over which an SST would fly at supersonic speeds."

"Furthermore, once an SST reached supersonic speed it would be at such a high altitude that the sonic boom which would be transmitted to land or water surfaces would be greatly reduced below the sonic booms with which the public is familiar."

The department also said there is no scientific basis for charges that large numbers of SST flights at altitudes above 60,000 feet would pollute the upper atmosphere and drastically change the earth's weather.

Riot Bills Introduced In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two bills designed to prevent further campus disturbances were introduced in the Ohio Legislature Monday by Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood.

The bills bring to 22 the number of such proposals presented to the General Assembly since the beginning of its extended session last week.

The first would provide for fines of up to $300 and three months in jail for outsiders taking part in campus riots. Also stipulated in the measure is permission to suspend for one year any students, faculty or university staff members involved in disturbances.

The second calls for the upgrading of campus security forces by increases in pay to Highway Patrol levels and the establishment of auxiliary forces comprised of students.

Among other new House bills include a bill to remove the requirement that motorcycle operators and passengers wear protective headgear.

The Senate, in a less productive session, saw only one new bill brought before it.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, seeks to require crash-resistant bumpers on all passenger cars after January of 1971.

Garnishment Law Change Passes Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House Judiciary Committee approved Monday a bill aimed at modifying and liberalizing state garnishment laws.

The bill prohibits the attachment of wages prior to a legal judgment and also limits the percentage of disposable income that can be garnished in any one month to 17.5 per cent.

Additionally, the number of garnishments leveled against the same individual in a 30-day period would be restricted to one. The firing of an employee for less than three garnishments within a single calendar year is also prohibited.

The measure was sent to the floor.

The Senate Judiciary Committee meanwhile, put off any decision on the much-discussed "stop-and-frisk" bill.

Sen. James K. Leedy, R-19 Wooster, told the committee the "U.S. Supreme Court has given law enforcement agencies broad discretion" in search and frisk activities and moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. "We don't need any more legislation," he said.

The judiciary committee also failed to act on the comprehensive drug abuse bill.

Further committee discussion is expected on this bill before the end of the session.

Debt Limit Hike Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, citing lower-than-expected tax collections, asked Congress Monday to raise the ceiling on government borrowing by $18 billion.

This would increase the debt ceiling from the present $377 billion to $395 billion. Without congressional action, the ceiling would automatically drop July 1 to $365 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy, presenting the request to the House Ways and Means Committee, attributed the expected deficits in the budget for this year and the next largely to smaller revenues than had been expected.

"Apart from the effect of proposed legislation, revenues have been reduced by $3 billion in the current year and $1.1 billion in fiscal 1971, in both cases largely reflecting lower estimates of corporate profit tax receipts," Kennedy said.

"This slippage, in part at least, appears to reflect a lower than anticipated level of corporate profit during the first part of this calendar year. It does not reflect any relaxation of our continuing efforts to control inflation."

Vos as acting head of the pathology division, according to an FDA memorandum dated May 19. Vos, a longtime agency official, is a medical doctor but not a pathologist.

However, a leading pathologist from the government's National Cancer Institute is in line for the job on a permanent basis, an FDA spokesman emphasized.

Richardson was brought in to revitalize FDA pathology in part because of a reputation he gained in the Veterans Administration as a hard-nosed scraper committed to scientific integrity, knowledgeable FDA officials say.

FDA memoranda show that Richardson has ranked longtime agency officials during the past year and a half with insistent demands for upgrading pathology in the agency. Pathology is the branch of medicine dealing with the causes of tissue injury and death.

A memorandum written by Richardson Oct. 20, 1969, as a subject of later news stories increased tensions within the troubled agency.

Richardson charged that bureaucrats with limited scientific training expunged conclusions and recommendations from reports of certain animal experiments. The experiments in question appeared to contradict official agency positions on the safety of some food additives, most notably the artificial sweetener cyclamate.

Richardson has met mounting bureaucratic retaliation since news stories of his charges appeared one month ago, reliable FDA officials said. Richardson is attending a scientific meeting in Texas and was not available for comment.

Murder Case Goes To Jury In Union County

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Robert Liggins, 18, and Ross Fields Jr., 19, both of Toledo, went to a Union County Common Pleas Court jury today.

The two men are accused of the shooting death last November in Toledo of Clarence Squire, who had attempted to aid a woman the defendants allegedly were robbing.

The trial was moved here from Toledo on a change of venue.

Defense attorneys contended Liggins and Fields could not get a fair trial in Toledo because of publicity about the killing and a fund drive that raised nearly $60,000 for Squire's two sons.

Al Unser And A.J. Foyt Men To Beat At Indianapolis

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — With the Indianapolis 500 still five days away, the experts around Gasoline Alley already have tabbed Al Unser and A.J. Foyt favorites to win auto racing's richest prize.

Unser, 31, put his Colt-turbo-charged Ford on the pole with a four-lap speed of 170.221 miles per hour. Foyt, 35, a three-time winner, starts on the outside of the front row after qualifying at 170.004 m.p.h.

There are 31 other cars in the field, four of them manned by rookies. The average qualifying speed of the 33 starters was 165.373.

A panel of four veteran observers of the Memorial Day classic was asked to rate the field and the chances of each driver, including the rookies, to win.

There is no pari-mutuel betting in auto racing, but if there were, the consensus of the panel would rate Unser and Foyt at 2 to 1 over the field. Roger McCluskey, who has the inside second row spot, was the only driver rated at 3 to 1.

There were two drivers rated at 4 to 1, Mark Donohue and the 1968 winner Bobby Unser, while last year's champion Mario Andretti was placed at 6 to 1, probably because he has a completely new and untried car.

Johnny Rutherford, the other front row qualifier at 170.213 m.p.h., was rated 7 to 1.

Here is the way the field, in the order in which they will start the race, was rated along with capsule comment:

1. Al Unser: Tough to beat if he doesn't break; 2-1.
2. Johnny Rutherford: Morale is high, might feel racy; 7-1.
3. A.J. Foyt: Wants badly to be the first four timer; 2-1.
4. Roger McCluskey: New team, watch out for this one; 3-1.
5. Mark Donohue: Captain Nice, a real threat; 4-1.
6. Art Pollard: Could finish well up; 15-1.
7. Bobby Unser: Will lead sometime, maybe at end; 4-1.
8. Mario Andretti: New car, new crew, more problems; 6-1.
9. Jim Malloy: Good qualifier, short on experience; 20-1.
10. George Snider: Good car, probably finish top ten; 20-1.
11. Dan Gurney: Tired of second, will go for the bundle; 10-1.
12. Mike Mosley: Will probably win this race some day; 12-1.
13. Lee Roy Yarborough: A good stocker, but is he hungry?; 14-1.
14. Bruce Walkup: Only one lap of experience at Indy; 30-1.
15. Rick Muther: Short on horsepower and experience; 30-1.
16. Peter Revson: He could be near front at finish; 15-1.
17. Gordon Johncock: Has a long way to go, but will go; 10-1.
18. Joe Leonard: Just a little too far back; 15-1.
19. Carl Williams: Best ride he has ever had; 25-1.
20. Gary Bettenhausen: Nothing but problems all month; 20-1.
21. George Follmer: Good driver, but 500 miles for car; 20-1.
22. Mel Kenyon: Should finish in top 10 again; 30-1.
23. Donnie Allison: Could be tough here, someday; 25-1.
24. Wally Dallenbach: Better get out of the way; 20-1.
25. Lloyd Ruby: Because here comes Ruby; 15-1.
26. Jack Brabham: Off if he had arrived sooner; 20-1.
27. Ronnie Bucknum: He'll drive as long as the car runs; 30-1.
28. Greg Weld: If it were only a sprint race; 30-1.
29. Jerry Grant: He'll pass a few cars before he breaks; 30-1.
30. Bill Vukovich: Strange car and question marks; 25-1.
31. Dick Simon: Short on experience and pieces; 30-1.
32. Sammy Sessions: Car needs more work, but he's in; 30-1.
33. Jim McElreath: He won't finish 33rd; 25-1.

One of the surprises in the selection came when the Tiger's Mike Fuller and Billy Thomas only received honorable mention.

These two young men deserved a better fate as they exhibited fine ability and desire throughout the season. Both have to be recognized as key factors in the Red and Black's success.

Sometimes athletes are so apt in the performance of their duties they are overlooked and we are certain this is what happened in the case of these two boys.

Flood's Baseball Lawsuit May Be Completed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood's lawyers are expected to complete presentation of his $3 million antitrust suit against baseball in Federal Court Tuesday.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of professional football, was the only witness in Monday's abbreviated session. He was under subpoena from Flood's lawyer, Arthur Goldberg, former United States Supreme Court Justice.

Rozelle told the court about football's player-option contract, which operates quite differently than baseball's reserve clause, but he also added that some pro football clubs might have failed if the merged leagues had not agreed on a common player draft in 1966.

In answer to questions by Jay Tokas, a Goldberg associate, who asked Rozelle to identify the clubs that might have failed, Rozelle said:

"I feel some clubs in the American Football League and some in the National Football League would have failed because of escalating costs."

Pressed to name the teams, Rozelle added:

"As long as he had somebody to play against, I think Lamar Hunt (Kansas City owner) could afford to field a football team for some time.

"And I think Bud Adams (owner of Houston) also could afford to field a team for some time as long as he had somebody to play."

If the Flood case is completed, possibly with the testimony of Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, the defense is expected to start its case. Among the early witnesses is sure to be

Four Circleville Players Named To SCOL Team

Circleville's Bryce Brown was top pick of the coaches when they selected the South Central Ohio All-League team.

Brown was number one vote getter and selected honorary captain of the star studded lineup. He was the outstanding hurler in the league with an 8-0 league record and pitched the Tigers to the league championship.

Other Tigers selected to the squad were Ty Ankrom, shortstop; Mike Webb, right field; and Tom Bowers, utility player. These three young men were consistent with their good play and hustle.

One of the surprises in the selection came when the Tiger's Mike Fuller and Billy Thomas only received honorable mention.

These two young men deserved a better fate as they exhibited fine ability and desire throughout the season. Both have to be recognized as key factors in the Red and Black's success.

Sometimes athletes are so apt in the performance of their duties they are overlooked and we are certain this is what happened in the case of these two boys.

The complete all-league team follows: Pitchers, Bryce Brown, Sr., Circleville; Fred Lovelace, Sr., Wilmington; Paul Howland, Jr., Greenfield; Catcher, Don Captain, Jr., Hillsboro;

First Base, Steve Bihl, Jr., Miami Trace; Second Base, Steve Smith, Jr., Greenfield; Third Base, Tony Grooms, Fr., Miami Trace; Mike Earley, Jr., Wilmington;

Short Stop, Ty Ankrom, Sr., Circleville; Steve Bowers, Sr., Washington, C. H.; Left Field, Jack Warner, Sr., Washington, C. H.; Center Field, Al Fife, Sr., Wilmington; Doug Steele, Miami Trace;

Rampaging Cincy Reds Top San Diego's Padres, 2-1

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The things George "Sparky" Anderson learned last season as a coach with San Diego's brand new Padres are serving him well this year in his freshman season as manager of a Cincinnati team that threatens to make a shambles of the National League West.

Anderson paid Preston Gomez, the San Diego manager, some high compliments Monday night after the Reds nipped the Padres 2-1 on Bobby Tolan's tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the eighth inning.

The Reds, with a solid seven-game lead in the West, sent Jim Merritt, the major leagues' winningest pitcher at 9-2, and young Pedro Borbon, 0-0, against Mike Corkins, 3-4, and Gary Ross, 1-3, or Danny Coombs, 4-3, in tonight's twi-night doubleheader. San Diego, last in the division, trails fifth-place Houston by 2½ and the Reds by 14½.

"The Padres are the best-organized expansion team in history," Anderson said, "and as well organized as any team in baseball. Everything they do is clockwork and I don't mind admitting that I've copied everything they do."

Everything, that is, except the ritual of frequent clubhouse meetings.

"We haven't had one since the last day of spring training," said Anderson, who has established a close and friendly rapport with his players.

That rapport was evident recently when catcher Johnny Bench turned to his manager and said:

"Just stick with us, skip, and you'll be here a long, long time."

Anderson, who succeeded the ousted Dave Bristol at the Cincinnati helm, believes he has one of the best pitching staffs in baseball and points to reliever Wayne Granger as an example.

Last year, Granger set a record by relieving in 90 games. That astronomical figure and the fact that another fireman, Clay Carroll, worked in 71 games are said to have contributed to Bristol's firing.

Granger has pitched in only 17 games this season and has worked a mere 21 innings, including two Monday night when he saved the victory for starter Jim McGlothlin, 6-3.

"I would like to pitch Granger more often — he needs the work," said Anderson. "But how can I?" he added, pointing out that his starters have hurled 12 complete games to only 23

by the Cincinnati staff all last season.

McGlothlin, who singled to start Cincinnati's winning rally, skinned a knee sliding home with the decisive run and had to leave the game. Granger worked out of trouble in the ninth inning after Clarence Gaston and Nate Colbert led off with singles.

Gaston had three of San Diego's six hits, including a game-tying homer in the fourth inning, his sixth of the year.

The Reds pinned the loss on Clay Kirby, 2-6, who allowed a second-inning homer by Lee May, his twelfth of the year.

Golf Tourney Is Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The start of the Ohio High School Golf Tournament was delayed from 7:30 a.m. to noon today with hopes the Stoney Creek Course would dry out enough to permit play.

Heavy rains washed out practice rounds Monday and left the 6,749-yard par-72 metropolitan park course partially under water.

The two-day tournament was moved to Stoney Creek after Ohio State University closed its course to outside activity following student rioting.

Upper Arlington was favored to capture its third straight crown. Its strongest challengers in the 24-team field were Toledo Bowsher, Springfield North, Columbus Wattersen and Granville.

The medalist race was wide open with the graduation of Hamilton Badin's Jim Urso, low individual last year.

Allison Really Earns Indy Slot

By LLOYD RUBY
Written for
The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —
Rookies have a hard time at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Now, it's hard to imagine anybody having a harder time qualifying for this year's race than me, but I'll guarantee there's one rookie who earned his starting position.
Donnie Allison, the stock car rookie from down south, spun twice the first week he was here and he starts 23rd, which is darned good for a shave-tail.

Luck didn't have anything to do with what happened to Donnie before he qualified. It was a matter of experience. That's what it takes to run this ole place...experience. You have to know what to do and when to do it and where to do it.
If you think I'm kidding, I'll give you a good example. Donnie Allison is a fine race driver. He had never been to the Speedway except for a tire test and about all he did was observe. He didn't run many laps on the track — just enough to know he wanted to drive in the Indy 500.

Donnie spun the first day he went out on his rookie test. It was a good lesson for him. He told me later he was confused because some officials told him to run with two wheels below the yellow line, which actually is way below the groove.
Donnie didn't know how fast he was going when he went into the corner and tried to keep his left wheels too low and that's when he lost it. If he had run at any speed on the track before, he would have known you can't go fast down there.
He lost it again later but that time it was a real windy day. He zipped down in the third corner flat out. There's a gap between the grandstands in the third corner and the wind can play all sorts of funny tricks on you there.

The wind caught Donnie and moved him out of the groove and he jerked the wheel to the left real quick to correct it. I knew when I saw his tire marks afterwards what had happened.
You see, stock car drivers can let the rear end of their cars hang way out on the big oval tracks — we call it running loose — but you can't do that in one of our championship cars. These cars react a lot quicker. When you jerk the wheel of a championship car, you might as well get set, because you're going to find the rear end leading you around the race track.
I told Donnie that I get out of the groove at least once every three or four hot laps and it scares me every time. I told him I just let the car go where it wants to go.

At Indy, you have to go into the corners real low, then get the car back out to the wall between the short chutes as quick as possible. Heck, if you don't, there's no way you can run fast.
Actually, I've been so close to the wall, I've fished a hundred times. I get so close, I just know I'm gonna hit. I just scrunch up my shoulders and wait to see. I get a funny feeling in my stomach. My next lap is always slower, I'm sure!
The more laps you run at Indy, the better off you are, I've been running Firestone tire tests here for quite some time and that extra experience has certainly helped me in learning what to do and what not to do at this old place.
Hey! It's a tough race track! The biggest mistake rookies make is thinking they can come up here for the first time and run as fast as anybody. Nine times out of ten, they don't have the equipment to do that.
Now, I'm not down on rookies or anything like that. Every driver has to start some place but new drivers can be a great handicap in the race. The track always gets oily and slick and that makes it a whole new ball game.
You have to know which drivers you can really race with at Indy, and you'd best find out before the green flag falls. I'll tell you more about that tomorrow.

Pacers Take ABA Crown; Win, 111-107

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Indiana Pacers, newly crowned champions of the American Basketball Association, flew home today for a champagne party they've been planning for days.
The Pacers, solid pre-playoff favorites, were forced to go six games before they finally subdued the upstart, orphan Los Angeles Stars Monday night, 111-107. The champagne has been on ice in Indianapolis for almost a week.
"It just wasn't our night but it sure was a night for Roger Brown," said the Stars' coach, Bill Sharman.
He referred to Indiana's 6-5 forward, a two-year ABA man from Dayton, whose 45 points, which included an ABA playoff record seven three-point field goals, wrecked the Stars.
There were 8,233 fans in the Sports Arena. Ironically, it was the largest crowd the Stars, or their predecessors, the Anaheim Amigos, ever attracted in Southern California. And it came in the last game for the team in Los Angeles.
Stars' owner Bill Daniels of Denver has announced the team will leave, bound for either Salt Lake City or possibly back to Anaheim.
The Pacers coach, Bob Leonard, had compliments for all — his own star, Brown, such reserves as Tom Thacker, Art Becker and John Barnhill. And also for Sharman and the Stars.
Brown, whose seven three-pointers erased the record of six set in 1969 by Chico Vaughn of the Minnesota Pipers against Miami, was asked if he'd like to play the champion New York Knicks of the rival National League.
"No — not till next year," he replied, chuckling. "Right now I want to rest."
"Indiana," said Sharman, is one of the better basketball teams in the world. Other than one or two teams in the NBA, Indiana could hold its own and be a definite contender."

Fort Wayne Bowler Takes Top Honors

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The 1970 American Bowling Congress tournament is over and Jake Yoder of Fort Wayne, Ind., the only bowler in the 80-day tournament to bowl a perfect 300 game, has captured the top Regular Singles honors.
Yoder posted a 744 which entitled him to $1,000 of the $579,625 in prize funds.
Dick Selgo and Don Bredehoft of Toledo, Ohio, won the regular doubles crown with 1,371 and Mike Berlin of Muscatine, Iowa, the Regular All Events title with 2,004.
Glenn Allison of Whittier, Calif., finished first in Classic Singles with 730. Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., who posted a 747 for the tournament's highest series, and Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis teamed up to win the Classic Doubles diadem with 1,431.
Bob Strampe of Detroit, who registered 2,043, claimed the Classic All Events title.
Merchant Enterprises of New York City won the Classic team championship with a 3,154. Larry Lichstein's 700 led the way.
Hamm's Beer of Minneapolis, Minn., had 3,243 to win the Regular Team title and Family Lanes of Butler, Pa., posted 2,877 to win the Booster Team crown.
A total of 4,802 teams, 10,966 doubles combines, 21,945 singles entries and 19,861 All Events competitors bowled in the tourney.

Rotary Speaker Is Banker

PHILIP F. SEARLE

Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio Corporation, will be the guest speaker at the Thursday noon luncheon of Circleville Rotary at the L-K Restaurant.

The subject of his talk will be "Community Banking in the 1970's."

Searle began his banking career in 1948 as a teller in the Geneva Savings and Trust Company and was promoted through various offices in the bank, becoming its president in 1959.

In 1960 he was elected president, senior trust officer and director of the Northeastern Ohio National Bank of Ashtabula and in 1969 he was elected to his present position.

Among Searle's activities related to his vocation are: president of the Ohio Bankers Assn.; member of the bank Management Committee of the American Bankers Assn.; member of the Monetary and Payments System Planning Committee of the American Bankers Assn.; immediate past chairman of the Regional Advisory Committee of the Fourth National Bank Region.

He is a graduate of Cornell University and has graduated twice from the Stonier Graduate School of Banking with majors in investments and in trusts. He is a veteran of both World War II and the Korean War.

Y Sets Dates For Coed Day Camp Events

The YMCA has set camp dates for third summer of Coed Day Camping.

Out-of-door fun, adventure and camp crafts will be offered to boys and girls ages 6 through 12 in three separate camping periods. One eight day period starting June 30, a five day period starting July 13 and another eight day session starting July 20, will make up the 1970 Day Camping Schedule.

Camper will again be picked up and returned to their school by bus. Pick-up points will be at all Circleville schools and at various county schools throughout the three periods.

Overnight camping will again be added to day camp for boys and girls 8 years of age and up.

A descriptive camp brochure will be distributed throughout all schools before vacation. Additional information on day camping can be obtained by calling the YMCA at 474-8621.

Pre-School Clinics Completed

County health nurse Helen Pickens and RN Effie Davis of the health department have completed pre-school clinics until August. New students and those not in attendance when the clinics were held, will be checked prior to reopening of schools in the fall.

A total of 146 students were screened in Darby, Williamsport, New Holland, Saltcreek and Jackson Schools. Clinic results were 46 immunizations, 26 teeth defects, 21 tonsils discovered, nine hearing, 11 speech and 19 vision. Eleven pre-school students were referred to a nurse in charge of Speech and Hearing Clinic. Three pre-school and two school students were referred to the State Department of Welfare Nursing Consultant for Bureau of Service for the Blind.

Other duties performed by the county nurse during the month was to assist at Berger Hospital clinics, home visits for the purpose of promoting health and for advisement and care.

The month's work load also included administering aid and assistance from the office. A final report was issued of the mass measles immunization program for children ages 6 to 12 conducted April 28 and 29. All county schools were visited, 1014 children immunized.

Students, Rhodes Slate Meeting About Disorders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Student government leaders at 12 state universities will meet with Gov. James A. Rhodes Wednesday morning to discuss recent campus disorders and their causes.

It is the first time Rhodes has sought the advice of student leaders. Last week he met with the presidents and other officials of the universities to discuss their problems.

Rhodes' office said he and the students will discuss the score of bills introduced in the legislature since a wave of disturbances hit Ohio Colleges.

Most of the measures propose harsh treatment of rioters. But Rhodes has halted hasty action by calling for a special committee to study campus problems and promising to call a special session of the Legislature in the fall if the committee decides new laws are needed.

Summer Staff Hired by YMCA

Summer program staff is being interviewed by the local YMCA, according to Y director, Harold Hewitt.

There is an opening for a YMCA or Red Cross certified swimming instructor to teach pre-school and snorkel classes.

Additional staff is needed for the YMCA Day Camp scheduled June 29 to July 30. Both paid college students and volunteer Junior and Senior High School Students are being interviewed.

For those students 14 and up, interested in doing volunteer work at the YMCA during the summer, a special meeting will be held June 2 at 4 p.m. at the YMCA.

Appointments for interviews can be made by calling the YMCA office at 474-8621.
